

Equity Market Update

February 2026

Summary:

Domestic equity markets fell on disappointment over the Union Budget 2026 proposal to raise securities transaction taxes on equity derivatives, while the RBI's decision in its Feb 2026 policy meeting to keep the policy rate unchanged at 5.25% further weakened risk appetite. The decline deepened as rising U.S.-Iran tensions and worries about AI-related disruptions kept investors cautious, and crude oil prices climbed after diplomatic talks between the two countries ended without any agreement. However, losses were partly capped after the U.S. President announced a trade pact with India that cuts U.S. tariffs on Indian goods to 18% from 50% in return for India halting Russian oil purchases and easing select trade barriers.

Indian equity markets opened the month on a weak footing after the Union Budget 2026 proposal to increase taxes on equity derivatives triggered a sharp sell off during the special weekend session. Sentiment recovered quickly as bargain hunting emerged and infrastructure stocks led the early rebound. Support improved further after the U.S. President announced a trade agreement with India that lowers U.S. tariffs on Indian goods to 18% from 50%, easing long standing tariff concerns.

As the month progressed, trading turned mixed. Optimism surrounding the trade developments was repeatedly offset by persistent weakness in the information technology sector, where concerns about AI driven disruption to traditional business models weighed on investor sentiment. Caution was further reinforced ahead of the RBI policy meeting, during which the central bank kept the policy rate unchanged at 5.25% in view of elevated global uncertainty.

A temporary improvement followed the announcement of an interim trade framework between the U.S. and India that outlined tariff easing commitments and deeper economic cooperation. This did not last long. Crude oil prices surged after reports of possible U.S. military action in the Middle East, reversing earlier gains and weakening risk appetite.

Late in the month, renewed tariff related remarks from U.S. leadership, the introduction of a new 10% tariff framework, and a steep 126% solar import duty on India revived concerns about the stability of the bilateral trade environment.

Market sentiment weakened further as geopolitical tensions intensified and uncertainty in the Middle East rose. Crude oil prices moved higher again after diplomatic discussions between the U.S. and Iran that were intended to ease nuclear related differences ended without agreement, deepening risk aversion across sectors and adding to the broader instability.

On the BSE sectoral front, BSE IT slumped 18.74% as investors reacted sharply to Anthropic's newly launched AI tools, which amplified concerns that advanced automation could directly challenge traditional software and IT services models. The rapid progress of new AI-first startups intensified fears that India's labour-intensive outsourcing structure could face disruption, potentially eroding pricing power, compressing margins, and displacing legacy service providers. BSE Power rose 8.99% as sustained buying in multinational electrical equipment makers pushed the sector sharply higher. Strong order visibility, supportive policy momentum, and optimism around long-term electrification trends kept investor sentiment buoyant. Recent quarterly updates from power and electrical equipment companies highlighted robust demand across infrastructure, railways, data centres, and industrial segments. Management commentary across the sector indicated that steady project execution and healthy order backlogs are supporting earnings visibility despite volatility in the broader market. Sentiment has also strengthened on the back of favourable policy signals, with companies noting that higher public spending, ongoing grid expansion, and rising electricity demand are likely to drive sustained growth over the long term.

Outlook

Domestic equities remain structurally positive, supported by strengthening domestic demand and a gradual improvement in exports aided by ongoing trade agreements and free trade agreements. Macro stability continues to anchor the outlook, with the fiscal deficit remaining under control, foreign exchange reserves comfortably above USD 700 billion and central government spending staying prudent. Clarity on the evolving U.S. tariff structure will be an important monitorable given its implications for global trade dynamics and export-oriented sectors. On the risk side, volatility in commodity prices may pressure corporate margins and geopolitical tensions could keep crude oil prices elevated. In addition, rapid AI-led automation raises concerns around job displacement and the possibility of structural disruption in certain labour-intensive industries, which together could temper near-term sentiment despite a broadly constructive medium-term backdrop.

Debt Market Update

Bond yields declined following a fall in U.S. Treasury yields, with gains extending after the U.S. President announced a long-awaited agreement to cut U.S. tariffs on Indian goods to 18% from 50%. Sentiment was further supported by ample banking-system liquidity ahead of the record government borrowing program for the next fiscal year. However, gains were limited capped as the Union Budget 2026 announced a higher-than-expected FY27 gross borrowing target of Rs. 17.2 lakh crore, while sentiment turned muted when the RBI, in its Feb 2026 policy meeting, kept the repo rate unchanged at 5.25% and refrained from providing additional liquidity support.

Yield on the 10-year benchmark paper (6.48% GS 2035) fell by 4 bps to close at 6.66%, compared with the previous month's close of 6.70%.

The month began with bond yields moving higher after the Union Budget announced a record gross market borrowing of Rs. 17.2 lakh crore for the financial year 2027, which immediately affected demand conditions. Yields then softened slightly as expectations of continued RBI bond purchases created some support, although the pressure from the large supply outlook remained dominant.

The support was temporary because the RBI decided to keep the policy repo rate unchanged at 5.25% and did not announce any fresh liquidity measures in its Feb 2026 policy meeting. This decision resulted in a sharp increase in yields as participants reassessed the demand and supply balance in the context of the substantial government borrowing program.

Domestic yields moved lower in line with declines in U.S. Treasury yields, particularly as softer U.S. economic indicators increased the possibility of future rate cuts by the Federal Reserve. Market sentiment improved further after the Jan 2026 domestic consumer price inflation reading came in at 2.75% YoY, encouraging traders to unwind short positions.

A notable development during the month was the continued emphasis by the government on the management of the redemption profile. Two significant debt switch operations were carried out. The first involved approximately Rs. 75,500 crore with the RBI, and the second involved Rs. 25,000 crore through market participants for settlement on Feb 23, 2026. These actions reduced near term redemption pressure, although they also strengthened the expectation that further meaningful measures to lower yields might be limited.

Geopolitical news created additional fluctuations. Concerns about a possible military confrontation between the U.S. and Iran pushed global crude oil prices higher and caused domestic yields to rise. These concerns later eased when signals emerged indicating progress toward the next round of discussions on the Iran nuclear issue.

Overall, February 2026 was marked by repeated shifts in market sentiment driven by heavy supply expectations, the policy stance of the RBI, movements in global bond markets, and geopolitical changes.

Liquidity Scenario

Banking system liquidity remained in ample surplus, aided by recent RBI cash injections and increased government spending. In the Feb 2026 monetary policy statement, the RBI

Governor reaffirmed that the central bank will continue to proactively manage liquidity to ensure adequate funds for the productive sectors of the economy and to support smooth monetary policy transmission. The Governor emphasized that liquidity operations will remain pre-emptive, with sufficient buffers to absorb unexpected fluctuations in government cash balances, shifts in currency in circulation, and movements arising from foreign exchange operations.

Yield Curve Analysis

Yield on gilt securities fell between 2 to 20 bps across the maturities, barring 5 year paper that rose by 3 bps. Yield on corporate bonds fell between 4 to 11 bps across the curve, barring 1 year paper that increased by 1 bps. Difference in spread between corporate bond & gilt securities expanded up to 16 bps across the segments, barring 5 & 10 year papers that contracted by 9 & 7 bps, respectively.

Fiscal Deficit

Government data showed that India's fiscal deficit for the period from Apr to Jan of FY26 stood at Rs. 9.81 lakh crore or 63.0% of the Budget Estimates (BE) of the current fiscal. India's fiscal deficit was at 74.5% of the BE in the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year. Total expenditure stood at Rs. 36.90 lakh crore or 74.3% of the BE as compared to 75.7% of the BE in the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year.

Central and State Borrowing

Government has completed 95.72% i.e., Rs. 6,48,000 crore of dated securities auctions till Feb 2026, out of scheduled amount of Rs. 6,77,000 crore to be raised in the second half of FY26. On the other hand, state government raised Rs. 2,79,435 crore, which is 55.91% of the total scheduled borrowing of Rs. 4,99,821 crore during the March quarter of 2026.

Exchange Rate

The Indian rupee rose in spot trading against the U.S. dollar, supported by foreign fund inflows. The currency also strengthened following a new trade agreement that reduced U.S. tariffs on Indian goods. Additionally, positive sentiment in the domestic equity markets contributed to further gains in the rupee.

Outlook

Domestic bond market is positioned for a mildly supportive phase, with dovish global signals and a stable rupee helping limit upward pressure on yields, though any currency weakness or fresh supply concerns could quickly shift sentiment, especially given the sensitivity to state government bond issuance. Corporate bond and money-market yields are likely to ease after March as supply tapers and the RBI maintains liquidity support, even as the broader rate-cut cycle approaches its end and supply-versus-liquidity dynamics remain central. A key upcoming determinant will be the first-half FY27 borrowing calendar, with markets closely watching the maturity mix, particularly at the longer end where demand has lagged the rise in the weighted average maturity of G-Secs and SDLs.
